Students scan the booklists at the bookstore. At times, buying books can seem daunting, especially for the incoming class, but the staff at the bookstore makes the task as painless as possible. • Orientation Assistant Mark Slotman helps his freshman sister, Kim Slotman carry in her belongings to Dykstra Hall along with help from his two other younger siblings Rachel and Kristen. • In order to get the campus reading for the incoming class, a large group of dedicated individuals spend months planning. Student Claudia Klimkowski gets fellow orientation assistant directors Tyler Depke and Alex Griffith pumped up for the day's activities. • In the shadow of the anchor, Orientation Group fifty-six participates in games to get to know fellow group members, led by Sarah Klotzback and Jeanne Oxidine. • photos courtesy of public relations •

Whether it was dancing at the Luau or meeting in OA groups, Hope's orientation had many fun ways for new students to get to know the campus. After freshmen had all of their belongings carried up to their rooms for them, it was hard not to get excited for what was to come. A perfect mixture of small and big group events helped to lighten the mood and loosen the edgy nerves of incoming freshmen. The new students were privy to valuable information that came straight from the lips of experienced students, and small group meetings offered a safe place for student to ask questions and voice concerns. During these times, friendships were forged between the freshmen, which could last the rest of their years here. Every night brought something fun to do beginning with "Grooving in the Grove." It was a time where students could socialize and sing praise music together out in the Pine Grove. The "Orientation Extravaganza" was full of fun activities to get your blood pumped, and "Playfair," well, one had to see that to believe it. Since orientation was something everyone had to go through it might as well have been fun, and Hope College took the utmost care with making sure freshman had an enjoyable first few days. These were the moments when many Hope students made their closest friends, and orientation events helped with that. What a way to "Let the Journey Begin!" • article by abigail devuyst •

• Odd Year moraler, Abby Bok, encourages puller, Scott Hawken. • Sara Nielsen, Alex Zelinski, Nate Griffith, Keegan Gates, and the Even Year Pull Team attentively await their pull coach's next call set. In order for the team to pull in unison, every eye must be on the coach making the call set. Without this attention to detail, the team would not be as effective in gaining rope from their opposition. • Even Year anchor, Scottie Scott, and moraler Brittany Bengston put everything they have into a strain. The anchor is a vital part of the pull team, as they are responsible for bringing in and letting out excess rope. • Odd Year puller Scott Witcher gets constant encouragement from his moraler Audrey Griffith. This past September, crowds of alumni, parents, and students gathered on the banks of the Black River to observe one of America's oldest and fascinating traditions: The Hope College Pull. For 110 years, the Pull has evolved from simple "standing up" tug-of-war to its complicated present existence featuring in-ground pits with coaches and moralers directing signals and maneuvers to the pullers. For three weeks, these men and women trained to learn the obscure art of Tug-of-war. The morale practiced their sets while the pullers worked to improve their strength, endurance, mentality, and skill on the rope. Practice was not easy. Pull challenged its participants physically, mentally, and spiritual. Through the adversity, pain, and exhaustion, these twenty pullers and twenty moralers were broken down, and rose together as one rope-ripping machine. They became a Pull Team, representing not only themselves, their friends, their class, but Odd Year or Even Year pride and tradition. On Pull day, the two teams fought an epic battle for three grueling hours. The experience was difficult to describe. The roar of the crowd engulfed the audience, and the pullers, through the hours of performing the same maneuvers over and over, forget everything. The only focus the pull team had was the next heave. The question they asked was, "how are we going to make the next heave perfect? On September 29, 2007, the Legendary Freshmen Pull Team of 2011 pulled 31 ft. of rope giving Odd Year its first freshmen victory since the 1985. • article by matthew griffin •

The Social Activities Committee (SAC) spends hours each year to put on a successful homecoming weekend, and 2007 was no exception. This year, students were given a "Passport to the World" as they experienced the hoedown, parade around campus, and the homecoming ball. After moving the hoedown to the Maas Auditorium in 2006 due to rain, the event was back at Teusink's Farm on Friday night. Sophomore Colleen Leikert said "The hoedown was a great time to have fun with your friends. At the parade on a very hot October day, homecoming representatives in their convertibles and student organizations on their floats made the trek around campus. After waving to the crowds and throwing out candy, they made their way to the football game where Matt Wixson and Erika Oglesby were crowned King and Queen. To finish a perfect weekend, the homecoming ball was held on Saturday night at the Haworth Inn. Students were treated to decorations and food which brought them to locations all over the world. A swing band started off the night and got students swinging. "It was exciting to see how many people came to the dance this year. It was good to catch up with old friends and have fun with new ones. The music and decorations were wonderful, and everyone seemed to be really enjoying themselves," said Sophomore Malyn Schut. Homecoming 2007 was a very busy, yet exciting weekend. • article by jason folkert •

The 73rd Annual Nykerk Cup Competition was held on November 3, 2007. The theme for this years Nykerk was a Second Glance. Both the freshman and sophomore class fought hard for the Cup this year. The Freshman play was titled "Outside the Box" and followed cereal characters as they battled the Calvinifornia Raisins in search of their lost characters. The Sophomore play followed the more familiar story line of Cinderella. In the play, adapted for Hope College, the Prince had to fight through an enchanted Pine Grove in search of a beautiful Dutch maiden. Both plays got the audience roaring with laughter. The Sophomores performed "Annie Choral Highlights", a piece featuring familiar songs from the play "Annie" complete with solid motions, and tap dancing. The freshmen women performed "Splish Splash," also with fantastic motions and creative use of loofas and rubber duckies. The freshman orator based her speech "The Secret to Democracy" on the idea of the right to vote and how few young people exercise this right. The Sophomore Orator encouraged audience members to share life with others, taking a second glance at hardships and mistakes to see how they may be used for good. Overall, this year's Nykerk left the audience with powerful mess ages and bodies sore from laughter. The sophomore class of 2010 came out victorious, but both teams celebrated a fantastic Nykerk. •article by robin baker •

Sophomore play members exhibit wild expressions during the finale of their performance. Play members spent hours rehearsing for their performance; they did not disappoint the crowd or the judges. • Bath time was the theme for the freshman song girls. The rubber ducks and shower caps used during the song, produced a theme that was original and that complemented their song of choice, "Splish, Spash." •With a theme of cereal land, the freshman play girls delighted the audience and created a unique story. It was obvious that countless practices were necessary to put together this play. • Speaking out about the importance of relationships, mistakes, and second chances, sophomore orator, Robin Baker, encouraged audience members with a speech highlighting both her own personal experiences as well as universal truths. Her speech was both insightful and encouraging, proving what it takes to be a successful orator. photos courtesy of public relations •

Seniors Trisha Meyer, Niki Leger, and Bryn Carter complete their laps while keeping each other company. Most participants enjoyed the company of friends while walking, as this not only made the time pass more quickly, but it also created a sense of unity •The illuminari bags, lining both sides of the track, were a constant reminder to participants of why they were walking •Cancer survivors are given the honor of walking the first lap in recognition of their fight against cancer Often, this is an emotional time, not only for the survivors, but also for those remembering loved ones who lost their fight against cancer• Tents are a common sight at Relay for Life, and the event being held indoors this year did not deter groups from setting up their tents in the Dow Center. The tents provide a good place for participants to relax when they are not walking their laps. •photos courtesy of public relations •

It may have been rainy and blustery outside, but the participants at Hope's fifth Annual Relay For Life were warm and dry. High winds, rain and cold temperatures forced event planners to move the twelve-hour, overnight event into the Dow Center. The change of scenery did not put a damper on the festivities, however, as participants worked hard to bring the outdoors indoors. Hope's Relay For Life raised a record total of more than $57,000 to benefit the American Cancer Society. The 700 student participants formed teams in the context of their residence halls, fraternities, sororities, and student organizations while other teams consisted of groups of friends who joined together for the cause. At least one member of each team was walking on the Dow track at all times throughout the night, to signify that cancer never sleeps. When they weren't walking, the participants listened to live bands or joined in other activities such as a lip sync competition, and buck-buck tournament. The most solemn moment of the evening came during the Luminaria service when members of each team read the names of cancer survivors and loved ones lost to cancer. Each name was represented on one of hundreds of glowing luminary bags, which lined the track and served as a reminder for walkers of the people for whom they fought. The successful evening proved that Hope students are willing to do what it takes to fight cancer—in any weather—until a cure is found. • article by evelyn daniels •

To keep moral high, different groups came into the Dow Center to perform throughout the night. One of the favorites, for both the miracle families and for the participants was a local Girl Scout troupe. Along with hand motions, the girls sang several songs they had rehearsed for the night. • The Dream Team, full of enthusiasm, spent much of their time teaching the line dance to the Dancers and Moralers. They broke the dance down into several sections so that the tired Dancers and Moralers would be able to better learn it. Learning the dance throughout the night was a great way to ensure that everyone was on their toes. • A Miracle Child makes friends with students who take advantage of the inflatable slide. One benefit to having the Miracle Families at the Marathon, is that it gives the students a chance to hear first hand where the money they raised goes. • At the end of a very long twenty-four hours, the Dream Team announced the total amount of money raised for the DeVos Children's Hospital. This was an exciting and gratifying moment for all those involved in Dance Marathon • photos courtesy of public relations

Dance Marathon 2008 set a new record once again! A year of fundraising and planning came to completion as the Dow Center was transformed into an African Safari. Elephants, lions, meerkats, and giraffes came alive at 7 pm on Friday night when the dancers and moralers stampeded into the gym. Throughout the twenty-four hours money was raised, but the memories that were created between the Hope College students and the miracle families will last beyond the money. The Phi Sigs gave the meerkats a fashion make over, the Centurians shaved their beards and heads, and the Fratters worked on word searches. The Delta Phis danced with Duncan in the Lip Sync, the Sibs played four square, and the Dorians worked on arts and crafts. Down on the farm hour, camouflage hour, wacky clothes hour, and jersey hour were theme hours that kept the sleep-deprived students on their toes. As the hours wore on the feet became achy, but the pain the participants felt was a small price compared to what the miracle families have gone through. As the Circle of Hope began to form, tears were shed, but nothing could replace the feeling of knowing that a group of college students came together for an amazing cause. • article by abigail prast •

glad tidings

A christmas tradition that will not soon be outgrown, Vespers once again did disappoint this year. This year, Vespers was held on December first and second and all four services were once again sold out. It takes many participants to put on a show as beautiful in lyrics as in scene, but this year was no exception. Participating in the show were the Chapel Choir, Symphonette, the Hope College Chorus, as well as a flute choir, organist, and brass ensemble. Together, the sounds were unmistakably joyous. Apart from its humble beginnings, vespers has grown tremendously as has the demand for tickets. Members of both the Holland community, and the Hope community gather every year to celebrate the hope that Christmas brings. For this reason, Vespers continues to draw in crowds as well as warm Christmas spirit. •article by chelsea bossenbroek •

new calling

Graduation ceremonies took place Sunday, May fourth at the Holland Municipal Stadium. Six-hundred and sixty-seven seniors took part in the ceremony. The weather could not have proved better; the day was sunny and warm. The Commencement address was given by Dr. Steven Hoogerwerf, associate professor of religion. Hoogerwerf spoke on the importance of vocation and calling, and challenged the seniors to live lives of love. After the commencement address, the seniors were called upon to receive their diplomas—a much-awaited moment for them. Families traveled from long distances in order to take part in the joy of their graduating loved one's day. • article by chelsea bossenbroek •

Dr. Hoogerwerf addressed the graduating class of 2008 with a thought of vocation and calling. • Members of the Class of 2008 sit patiently, waiting for their names to be called. Team members of a coed Wally ball team eagerly display what they hope to do with the ball when facing their opponents. Teams often created a fun, but still competitive, atmosphere during their matches and games. • Coed inner tube water polo was a fun way for those who enjoy being in the pool to get in an entertaining game of water polo. The inner tubes guaranteed laughs as the players kicked and splashed their way into scoring for their teams. • One water polo team anxiously awaits the start of their game. • The racquetball courts at the Dow Center are the central stage for the wally-ball games. A team member gets the job done by smashing the ball down on the opposing team members. • photos by kyle woodworth •

Along with the great intercollegiate sports we enjoy from Hope's Varsity teams, students are also able to participate in any of many intramural sports. This year was as entertaining as ever watching the intramural sports of basketball, flag football, soccer and indoor soccer, water polo, ultimate Frisbee, Frisbee golf, racquetball, "cornhole", softball, and Wally-ball. There were many teams of juniors and seniors returning for a final chance at winning a pack of sought after orange "Intramural Champion" T-shirts, and many freshman and sophomore teams participating in hopes of creating their own intramural dynasty. As a single captain names their own entire team, it is fun for both players and supervisors alike to see the same team return year after year with their recognizable team name or even a newer and funkier name every season. The ultimate Frisbee intramurals saw the "Nice Set" team end up as champion, while the men's softball championship match concluded with the "Fraters" ahead by a score of 10-8. As any non-Varsity sport selected student can participate, the action at intramural games is usually less high-stakes and more fun oriented. By no means though does this mean that every sport did not have at least one game this year that left any fans in attendance with a shortage of un-chewed fingernails. • article by joel bruner •

staying active

The Chandelier hanging in the Amway Grand Plaza Hotel, was a small indicator of how grand of a setting the hotel offered students this year for the Winter Fantasia Dance. • Friends often attend Winter Fantasia together as it is a fun time to get dressed up and experience all that the West Michigan area has to offer. Friends Sara Toledo, Tara Hamming, Jen Brunis, Danielle Nyquist, and Colleen Leikert all posed for a group photo. • Although many students attend Winter Fantasia with their friends, it is also fun activity for couples to experience. Rachel Doherty and Taylor Fox danced together during one of the many slower songs played throughout the evening. • Slow dances, though did not inhibit non-couples from having a great time. Tara Hamming and Colleen Leikert showed their enthusiasm for the song being played by dancing along. •photos by colleen leikert •

On Saturday, February 23, students, faculty, and staff kicked off the second semester with the much-anticipated Winter Fantasia Dance. This annual formal dance is a favorite among students. Coordinated and sponsored by the Social Activities Committee, couples, clusters, and comrades dressed up in suits and formal dresses to attend the dance that was held at the Amway Grand Plaza Hotel in downtown Grand Rapids. SAC offered a bus to transport students, free to the Grand Rapids location where they were able to explore a new part of Western Michigan. Entering the Amway Grand Plaza, dancers were greeted by a luxurious lobby decorated with flowers, couches, and elaborate chandeliers. The dance itself, took place in the largest ballroom in the hotel, accommodating the 800 students who attended the dance that evening. According to Jason Folkert, student director for SAC, Fantasia was "a really good time! It was a chance to see all of our classmates together off campus while dancing to fun music and eating delicious food". The food and refreshment tables consisted brownies, jumbo cookies, chocolate covered strawberries, stuffed mushrooms, and white grape punch. Throughout the night, cheerful servers consistently replenished the tables with these delicious treats. As the night wore on, couples and groups gathered their possessions and headed out the doors where they were met by the breezy, Michigan winter winds in order to make the trek back to Holland. •article by katie robrahm •

At six in the morning on March 14 2008, I was standing in line at the Air Jamaica baggage check at O'Hare airport in Chicago thinking, This is actually happening, we're going to Jamaica! The previous semester I had signed up at the Keppel House to lead a spring break service trip. After I found out who my co-leader would be, where we were going, and the names of each member of our group, the hard work began. Scheduling group meetings, contacting the organization in Jamaica, coordinating dates and activities... by the time Spring Break arrived, my co-leader and I were utterly exhausted. The flight out of Chicago was like a dream (in more ways than figuratively). Our group worked with an organization in Jamaica called the Caribbean Christian Center for the Deaf (CCCD). This ministry works with deaf children and adults in Jamaica to provide them with an education, Christian community, valuable work skills, and often a place to live. Our group worked in the Deaf Village for the week, interacting with the Jamaican deaf parents and children and aiding in the construction of a new mess hall. Nobody in our group knew sign language, and most of us had very minimal experience in rebar and cement work, yet God used us.

This year for spring break a group of 15 Hope students and 1 adult chaperone had the opportunity to work in Gulfport, Mississippi with The Solid Rock Ministries organization for a week serving the people of the community and the Lord. The group worked with the people and got to experience the community by participating in the city wide clean up. The city was going to bring dump trucks up and down the streets and collect anything alongside the curb for the last time since Hurricane Katrina hit the area so hard in August of 2005. The students walked door to door asking the residents of the Gaston point community in Gulfport if they needed help taking things from their house or yard to the side of the road. The group was challenged with many large projects as well as some smaller messes that the residents just wanted removed. Many of the students also had the opportunity to work on some of the construction type projects that were going on and mentor in the school in the area. The students at Gaston Point Elementary really appreciated the help that the Hope students were able to offer to them. Although the trip did involve a lot of work, the group was able to go down to New Orleans for an afternoon, visit the beach on the coast of Mississippi and visit the 500 year old friendship tree on the campus of Southern Mississippi University. The entire group formed an amazing bond through Jesus as we had nightly devotions and worship. Everyone's lives on the trip were touched and everyone had the opportunity to touch many lives with Christ's love.

Rose & the Rime

This year the Hope College Theater department had the honor of having one of their plays selected for presentation during the Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival National Festival in Washington D.C. The "Rose and the Rime," which was written at Hope, was one of only three plays chosen for the national festival. The production was originally presented in April of 2006. The show was written and created by guest artist Nathan Allen, who also directed it. "The Rose and the Rime" is set in the fictional town of Radio Falls, Michigan. The town is in a constant state of winter and has desolated by the terrible Rime Witch. Radio Falls is a town without flowers, springtime, or dancing. The only light in this dark town is a young girl named Rose, who attempts to change the fate of her town by journeying to the frozen cave of the Rime Witch. Several original cast members took part in the festival production as well as a few new ones. The production team included several Hope students as well as faculty and staff. It took countless hours to put together this production that garnered true recognition. • article by chelsea bossenbroek •

The Hope College production of "By the Bog of Cats" by Marina Carr was an Irish play based on Eurypides "Medea." Hope College ambitiously chose this production as a challenge to students and designers by selecting a contemporary Irish play that is as epic as any of the Greeks. Reagan Chesnut proposed the project to the faculty of the Theatre Department and then co-directed it with esteemed John Tammi. Set in the "boglands" of Ireland, the story unveils the struggles of Hester Swane and her desire to fight for her land and to reconcile her previous relationship with Carthage Kilbride. Other characters such as the nosy-neighbor, the Catwoman, and various ghosts haunt her in the play and weave mysticism with tragedy. The production was well received in November, and was upheld as a sort of senior "showcase" because of performances by Jocelyn Vammer, Jeremiah Vipond, Dane Clark, Isaac Drosha, the directing of Reagan Chesnut, and designs by Amanda Spaanstra and Sarah Watkins. •article by dane clark & photos courtesy of public relations •

SAC members help coordinate the Spring Fling events and also stand by to make sure that the participants are enjoying themselves. One inflatable game that students regularly request is the jousting ring. • Another favorite activity of the day is the mechanical bull. This student takes her turn at trying to balance on the bucking bull. Most students who are brave enough to try it, assert that it's harder than it looks. • The Push is a yearly tradition at hope. In it, participants decorate shopping carts and race around a course set up around the chapel. While this is occurring, Hope staff set up the picnic, a well earned meal for students who spent the afternoon playing outdoors. • Students Daniel Toren and Emily Mills try out the inflatable spider web. Velcro-clad, and wearing big smiles, they unwind before their looming exams. • photos courtesy of sac •

Every spring, Hope students celebrate the ending of academic year by attending Spring Fling, a campus-wide festivity planned by SAC. This year, near-perfect weather helped create a memorable experience for all those who attended. Students came out to the pine grove to enjoy live music, airbrush tattoos, and many other fun activities planned for them. The afternoon events also featured the Push, an event where students decorate shopping carts and participate in a race around the chapel. The shopping carts were decorated with many different themes by several campus groups. The highlight for some students was the free food Hope provided at the event. A scrumptious picnic dinner capped off the evening and students left tired and full.

home field

The softball team headed into the 2007 school year with just the thoughts of what their brand new stadium would look like. The field slowly became more of a reality with every new day and every added feature. Spring came for the 2008 team and they no longer had to dream of a beautiful field to play on, Wolters Stadium was completed and ready for sweat to be dripped on it. The softball team not only had the addition of their new stadium to start of their season, but also made an addition of new assistant coaches to the program. The new coaches were former Hope players, graduates of 2006, Becky Whitman and Emily Adams. The new coaches would be helped with inside leadership of eight seniors who made up a big part of the 2008 team. The coaches and all the players looked forward to getting the season started on the new field. The new field would give the team an attitude or intimidation factor that would allow the team to edge above the opposing teams in the MIAA. With a new field, new coaches, and a new season the 2008 team had high hopes of being victorious throughout their season. Although the high hopes of the 2008 season did not go as well as the coaches and players had hoped, they still view themselves as a top competitor for any team they may cross along their path for many years to come, and can expect to play many more competitive games at their new stadium. • article by jessica regnerus & photos courtesy of public relations •

Hope College has an excellent academic program with many opportunities. Professors use many tools to educate students on topics from all different angles such as text books, movies, journals, articles, and much more, but there is nothing like actually experiencing it. Hope College provides over 100 study abroad opportunities in over 60 countries on six continents. These opportunities allow students to learn first hand about other cultures in a manner that cannot be taught in a classroom.

Dr. Jennifer Young, assistant professor of English, was awarded the 44th Hope Outstanding Professor Educator (H.O.P.E) award at commencement by the class of 2008. Each year, the graduating class votes on the H.O.P.E. award, electing the professor who they feel epitomizes the best qualities of a Hope College educator.

Matt Wixson, Mortar Board president, announced her as the recipient on behalf of the senior class, and she came running to the stage. "I heard my name, but I didn't hear my name. Then, when people started looking at me and smiling, the word 'Bingo!' just popped into my head. I knew I was nominated, but I didn't think I would win. Then, when I realized Matt said my name, I was on the move. I just started running down the aisle like a contestant on Price is Right," Young said.

At the podium, Young thanked the graduating class, and then came back to add something else. "I said 'Boom Bap' to the graduating scholars on Sunday. I want to clarify what that means. When you say 'Boom Bap' to someone, you are loosely saying 'the beat in me feels the beat in you,'" said Young.

The beat of the Hope College students do feel her beat because she is one professor that students often recommend to each other. "She is so innovative and funky fresh," said senior Erika Oglesby. "There was no standard class with her. Each day, she had something new and surprising for us to do. We got to do all of these fun things, but were learning too."

"We know that we work hard for the students, for our departments, for Hope, for ourselves. It feels fantastic to get recognized for it," Young said. "I'm showing up every day like my colleagues do. Some days are terrific. Other days -- like trying to keep everyone's attention in the middle of a snow storm or patiently mentoring students while I'm on a publication deadline -- could go better. Still, I love what I do, and the students at Hope are a big part of that." article by emily mills instinct

He can be seen waiting patiently outside the DOW and the chapel, in the classrooms and halls of VanDerWerf, and running along side of Professor Pennings bike. He's the dog almost everyone at Hope College knows. His name is Elvis. What some people don't realize is that he is a mathematician just like his owner, professor of mathematics, Tim Pennings.

While playing fetch at the beach, Professor Pennings noticed that Elvis was not just running in any random path, there was strategy to it.

"When I saw him run down the beach and plunge into the water, I quickly realized that he was taking the same sort of path that I draw when I do that sort of calculus problem," Pennings said.

Elvis would run the route with the shortest time, not the shortest distance. Knowing that it takes longer to swim than to run, he would run just the right distance on the sand before jumping into the water.

In order to officially prove that Elvis was following the mathematical equation, he took some Hope students to the beach with a tape measure and a screwdriver to mark the place Elvis entered the water.

Everyone knows that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line, but does everyone naturally follow mathematical formula for traveling in the shortest amount of time? Professor Pennings argues that we do have some of these instincts.

"I think that we all have the ability to find optimal solutions to some degree. There have been mathematical studies to figure out, for example, how outfielders know what direction to start running when they hear the crack of the bat. Nature is finding optimal solutions all around us, we are just so used to seeing them that we don't think about it. Soap bubbles are spherical, for example, because the sphere is the shape of least surface area that encloses the air blown into a bubble pipe.

Look at the vessels on a lea sometime. It is the most efficient way to get nutrients to the entire leaf," Pennings explained.

Even if we do have some of these instincts, sometimes our common sense is wrong when predicting what Elvis would do in certain instances. According to Pennings, if he backed up a ways and threw the ball to the same point, most people would think that the point Elvis would jump into the water would be back a little too.

According to the mathematical formula, this is incorrect. Elvis would jump in at the same point, and he does.

"This is a neat example of how mathematics sometimes shows us that our common sense is wrong, and gives us the true answer. I think that is the most exciting part of knowing how to use mathematics."

So, Elvis is now not only well-known throughout Hope's campus, but also nationally. Pennings and Elvis have been invited to speak at many conferences throughout the United States.

"This past year, we have been to Duke University, Boston University, Grinnell College, and this summer we have been invited to speak at the National Summer Meeting of the Mathematical Association of America, but it's just as much fun to explain the ideas to a 10-year-old child at the beach and see his or her eyes light up with excitement and understanding," Pennings said. article by emily mills

Along with sister, DeeDee, and aunt, Princess, Elvis fetches the stick thrown by Pennings. Elvis retrieves drift wood from Lake Michigan.

The 2007-2008 school year brought about some new developments for the History Department. These included the increased involvement of students and faculty in Phi Alpha Theta, the national History Honors Society. President Lauren Berka and Vice President Ryan Sweet brought students and faculty together for a series of Kletz Nights. These events entailed good conversations and food, as well as historical trivia contests. A highlight for the year was a group READ photo taken for the Van Wylen Library which hangs near the computers on the first floor. In other happenings, Dr. Jonathan Hagood will be joining the History Faculty in the fall of 2008, specializing in Latin American History and the History of Medicine. He will add his expertise to an already exceptional group of scholars. The History Department also created a new award this spring entitled "Future History Teacher Award." This award recognizes a senior education student who shows the most promise in the teaching of history. Overall, it was a tremendous year in the History Department. • article by john noffke •

It had been a year since "Rose and the Rime" originally appeared on the DeWitt stage, but the cast and crew came back together one more time.

The Hope College Theatre production of "Rose and the Rime" was one of a select group of plays nationwide invited to be presented during the Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival (ACTF) National Festival in Washington, D.C., in April. "Rose and the Rime," which was written at the college, was one of only three full-length college/university-staged plays chosen for this year's national festival from among the best productions highlighted during the eight ACTF regional festivals held around the U.S. in January and February.

"Rose and the Rime" was the only production from the ACTF Great Lakes Region festival in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, to have the honor of performing in the national festival.

During the recent theater department trip to the Region Three Kennedy Center American College, professor Michelle Bombe kept a journal of her experiences. She wrote, "Theater professional, Kate Snodgrass told us that she saw some of the most beautiful images of her career in our production."

Another, Cindy Gold, said. "It felt like we were creating a new kind of theatre that was representative of the students' generation." •adapted from article by katie bennett •

There are many majors that students graduate with each year at Hope College, but this year, one more was added to the list. Chelsea Stephenson was the first person to graduate from Hope College with a musical composition major. "Trying to get my major approved was very difficult. I had to go to many meetings and speak to boards about why it was important for the music department to include a composition major," Stephenson said.

Overcoming the barriers to establish a new major is not the only way that Stephenson is breaking social norms. She is doing so many things that distinguish herself as an exceptional person. She is involved in many Hope College activities and holds many important leadership positions. She was the Nykerk song directing coach for the class on 2010 and the president of the Sigma Sigma sorority for the spring semester. She is involved in several musical groups leading sectionals for many.

Throughout all of these activities, music helps hold her good sense. "Composing is a great release for me. When I have a stressful day, I know I can turn to my music and it will be the same. It is something that I have complete control over," Stephenson said. It is also an area where she has a great ability. This is something that was very visible to her professors, such as musical composition professor, Steve Talaga, from the beginning. "When Chelsea first walked into my office I was struck by her energy and intelligence. She showed me some of her music at that first meeting, and it was immediately clear that she had an impressive talent for composing music," said Talaga.

Music was a part of Stephenson's life from the beginning. She was born and raised in Salt Lake City, Utah, where her mother was a pharmacist and her father a professional oboe player. She said her mom has told her stories about herself as a 1-year-old listening to her dad giving oboe lessons in their house. She would sometimes hum back some simple four or five note scale runs. She composed her first piece at the age of 4. This was before Kindergarten and unmistakably before she could spell as she named the piece, "Hom Agin."

Although people have applied for Hope College's Distinguished Artist Award through all musical forms including composition for years, Chelsea Stephenson was the first to receive the award through composition. This led to her working to establish Hope College's musical composition major.

She also recently accomplished something that no one else has in Hope College history. She combined efforts with a dance performance and choreography major to create a piece about the stages of womanhood entitled, "The Road." Stephenson wrote all of the music and rehearsed the musicians to make the music perfect. Julie Marie Carrico choreographed the dance and directed the dance rehearsals. Not only did this contain live dancers and musicians, but the artists also worked with multi-media effects to have images projected on white fabric hanging from the rafters. "I'm glad I got to do this piece with Chelsea, though. She has a very level head, but also knows what she wants and will do what she has to in order to get everything to work out," Carrico said.

It was a very exciting time for both the dance and music departments. One of Stephenson's composition professors Steve expressed his excitement for cross-departmental art. "This is the kind of exciting, boundary-breaking, multi-media events that ought to be happening between the various art departments all the time," said Talaga. "I hope all the involved parties find this to be a stimulating collaboration and that it will open doors on a more cross-departmental future on Hope's campus. This is the academic environment at its very best."

As if making a large contribution to the arts society was not enough, Chelsea was also pre-med and will be attending the University of Utah Medical School in the fall. As of now, Stephenson's goal is to be an emergency pediatrics doctor at a large children's hospital, but hopefully within the next 10 years, there will also be music circulating composed by Chelsea Stephenson, MD.

On Nov. 19, Hope College Associate History Professor Fred Johnson announced his candidacy for Michigan's Second District Congressional seat, running as a Democrat with the slogan "restoring progress and integrity." His position as a history professor places him in a unique situation. "As a historian, I've had plenty of opportunity to see what can happen when the majority of people either exhibit too much trust in leadership or don't challenge their leadership," Johnson said.

Should he win, Johnson hopes to act as a catalyst for change in American policy, but is conscious of the fact that he faces an uphill battle in this predominately conservative district, and is well aware that he may not win the election. Nonetheless, he remains optimistic about the results of the election.

"If I don't win, I will become a better history teacher, and I will have done the right thing. As a citizen of this community, it (is) incumbent upon me to do something," Johnson said. "I don't do anything for the progress if I'm just shrugging, nodding my head, and resigned to the results. And it's not over until the day after the election." • adapted from article by Kevin Soubley •

Senior pull coaches Aaron Knighton and Tara Kuhnlein spent countless hours preparing for the 110th annual Pull. Coaches dedicate their summers to preparing for the oldest college tradition in the United States. The ideals of tradition, hardwork, and achievement help fuel the desire to win each fall. photos

The Womens' Soccer team came into the season hoping to revenge last years MIAA loss to Calvin, but the Dutch fell short finishing the season in a tie for third place. The Dutch suffered a heartbreaking loss to nationally ranked rival Calvin ending their season in a semi-final match up of the MIAA conference tournament. The Dutch posted a 10-8-1 record and tied for third place in the MIAA standings at 6-3-1. The team posted its sixth consecutive winning campaign in 2007 under the helm of Head Coach Leigh Sears and Assistant Coaches Lindsey Engelsman, Gretchen Schoon-Tanis and Kate Thayer. Leading the Dutch in goals were seniors Sarah Cochrane and Julia Fischer who both found the back of the net 7 times. Kelly Schaefer, Kelsey Boss, Allison VanBeek, Emily Baracy, and Courtney Cook were honored numerous times throughout the season. The Flying Dutch graduate four seniors: Ellie Tresslar, Sarah Cochrane, Julia Fischer, and Danielle Schurr. They finish their careers with two MIAA Conference Championships and two NCAA tournament appearances. "The seniors did a fantastic job of stepping up in their role as veterans and showing the way to the younger players. Their enthusiasm and sense of team will be greatly missed by our program," stated Coach Leigh Sears. The Flying Dutch were a young team compiling ten freshman on the roster. The future for the Dutch looks bright as experience grows. • article by julia fischer •

Coming off Hope's first undefeated 7-0 MIAA championship season, expectations were high for the Flying Dutchman. 38 letter winners returned including 14 starters. The team had strong leadership in co-captains Colin Balas, Troy Blasius, Matt Rugenstein and Kevin VandenBosch. Hope Football had one its largest senior classes in recent memory with 22 players. Hope lost all three non-league games including the first night game since 2000 to sister school, Central College of Iowa. This game featured the third largest crowd in the 28 year history of Holland Municipal Stadium with 5,820 fans attending the game. Hope rebounded and won its next five leagues games in row setting the school record for consecutive MIAA wins at 14. Highlighted in this streak was Hope's first win at rival Albion in 25 years. With Hope's win over Kalamazoo, the program moved its all time record to 400 wins since the school started competing in football in 1902. With the defeat to Olivet College, Hope ended up with a MIAA record of 5-1 (6-4 overall). Although the Dutchmen were Co-Champions of the MIAA with Olivet, the head to head loss gave Olivet the NCAA playoff bid. Players who received all MIAA first team honors included junior Erik Ladomersky, and seniors Drew Weigel, Jake Droppers, Kevin VandenBosch, Doug Van Eerden, David Booko, Matt Rugenstein, Troy Blasius, and Chris Bowen. Players who received all MAIA second team honors included juniors Jake Manning and Brent Jones and seniors Ben Smith and Colin Balas. Senior Doug Van Eerden was named co-recipient of the MIAA off outstanding offensive player award and Senior George Klupchak was a co-recipient of the Pete Schmidt Scholar-Athlete Award. •article by john noffke •

Twenty four strong women + Second place at the MIAA Jamboree + Third place at the MIAA Championships + Eleventh place at Regionals = another successful season for the Womens' Cross Country team. The women kicked off a great season by earning second place at the Vanderbilt Invitational held at their home course at Ridgepoint Church. Led by captains Anne Hoekstra, Lydia Hartsell, and Molly Nyboer, the women worked together to build a strong team. Freshmen newcomers Susan Savasky, Emily Fischer, and Elle Munoa competed at the Regionals meet and consistently ran with the top seven runners. The women pumped up for meets by traveling with the men's team to out of state meets and by enjoying pasta dinners together. The close bonds that were formed between the women were evident in their performances. The women finished respectively with third place at the MIAA Championships meet and finished 11th out of 36 teams at the Regionals meet. •

Cross country

The men of Hope College's Cross Country team had a reputation to live up to after last year's stellar performance, finishing 5th in the region and qualifying two individuals for the NCAA Division III National Championships at Wilmington, Ohio. Losing contributing seniors proved to be difficult for the team but they rose to the challenge under the direction of Head Coach Mark Northuis and senior captain Nick Zendler. The Vanderbilt Invitational founded in 1966 in honor of former Hope College Cross-Country coach Bill Vanderbilt started out the Dutchmen with a strong outlook for the season by finishing third. Strong performances from Paul Vandervelde and Matt Wiersum lead the team to a good finish. The team went on to compete at the MSU Invitational finishing 9th overall, and ran over the hills of Tri-State's course at the MIAA Jamboree Meet coming to a third place finish. The Dutchmen then traveled to Minnesota and Wisconsin to compete at two out of region meets. With junior Rob Bailey leading the team, the Dutchmen finished third at the MIAA Conference Meet and then prepared for the NCAA Division III Great Lakes Regional at Calvin College on November 10. Hope had some strong individual finishes from Rob Bailey (65th place), Paul Vandervelde (75th place), Nick Zendler (100th place) and Zach King (117th place) and finished 18th at regionals. Graduating only a handful of seniors, the youthful Dutchmen team looks to improve. • article by nick zendler & seth weener •

womens' swim

The Hope Women's Swim Team had a great season, led this year by Captains Trisha Meier, Laura Ansilio and Brittaney Reest. Hope won all conference dual meets and beating Calvin in the dual meet for the first time in years was an exciting accomplishment. At the MIAA conference meet, which took place at the Holland Aquatic Center, the team placed second to Calvin, the defending champions. Despite the second place finish, the team swam very well. The 400 medley and 400 freestyle relays finished first in the meet. Three individuals captured first place finishes in four different events. Junior Laura Ansilio won the 100 yard freestyle, Sophomore Kate Williams won the 100 yard butterfly, and Junior Brittaney Reest won the 100 and 200 yard backstroke and was named meet MVP. At the end of a great weekend the Hope team had made several national cuts both in individual and relay events. One month later, a team of four women traveled to the NCAA Division III women's swimming and diving championships in Oxford, Ohio. These women included Freshman Angie Griffore, Sophomore Kate Williams, and Juniors Brittaney Reest and Laura Ansilio. Although the national team was small, the girls had an impressive meet finishing 24th overall. Brittaney Reest earned All-American recognition by finishing 8th in the 100 yard backstroke. Over the course of the weekend the team also earned six honorable mention All-American awards. The women's team is graduating one senior, Trisha Meier who has been an essential asset on the team for the past four years, but should continue to be a strong team in the upcoming year.

A change in format had the Hope Men's Track Team wondering what would come of this year's season. The MIAA switched the format of the track season from dual meets, to one large MIAA jamboree, and the conference meet to finish the season. The jamboree was scored using "True Team Scoring," where everybody placed in an event scores. The Dutchmen were led by senior co-captains Seth Weener, Andy Denniger, Aaron Clark, and Nate Vande Guchte. The jamboree, which was half of the conference championship, went down to the final couple of events. With Calvin scoring ahead of Hope in the final events, the Knights were able to pull away with a 924-871.5 victory. Albion College finished third with a total of 601.50 points. At the final conference meet, Calvin proved too deep for the Dutchmen to overcome by defeating the Dutchmen by 47 points. The conference meet was highlighted by seven first place finishes led by Sean Bergsma (High Jump), Brandon Bosch (Long Jump), Jeff Minkus (Triple Jump), Andy Denniger (Javelin), Chad Rector (Shot Put), Seth Weener (1500m Run), and Nick Rink (400m Hurdles) taking their events respectfully. The Dutchmen also qualified two individual athletes for the national meet. They were freshman John Donkersloot in the high jump and junior Rob Bailey in the steeple chase. They finished ninth and tenth at the nationals competition. The Dutchmen finished in second place in the MIAA standings behind Calvin, and ahead of Albion College. • article by meghan beachum •

The Hope Women's Tennis Team set their goals high this season, and never stopped reaching for them. The team was composed of one senior, one junior, five sophomores, and four freshmen. Every member of the team contributed to the team's overall success and another fantastic season. The team was led by Coach Karen Page, in her eleventh season as coach. Christine Garcia, the team's only senior, served as team captain. The women finished their season as third in the MIAA with a 7-2 MIAA record and a third place finish at the MIAA tournament. The season was filled with fun, fitness, and many fond memories which will never be forgotten. First of all, the team achieved the MIAA student scholarship award, a prize that has eluded them for the past three years. In addition, eight of the players received certificates for their individual scholar-athlete achievements. Also, Sammi Stille, a Junior, received All MIAA First Team honors and Christine Garcia, a Senior, received All MIAA second team honors. Christine Garcia also received the Karen Caine Scholar Athlete Award for her outstanding academic and athletic achievements. With only one senior graduating, the team plans on continuing in their tradition of hard work and looks forward to seeing how that will pay off in the future. • article by meghan beachum •

After a spectacular start to the season, including an undefeated spring trip (6-0), the men's tennis team lost several closely contested matches late in the season to finish the year at 13-11 overall and fourth place in the MIAA with 3 wins and 3 losses. John Pelton, a junior transfer from Western Michigan University, was named MIAA Most Valuable Player after going undefeated in conference play and he was one of 32 players chosen to participate at Nationals where he lost in the first round. There is nothing more peaceful than a softball stadium early in the morning sun. Walking out of the new dugout, and turning to the left, one can only envision the crowd sitting in their newly padded seats cheering as someone with a Hope jersey is rounding the bases. Continue to walk behind home plate and gaze into the field, and one's eyes will travel along the white chalk lines atop the new red dust and looking up will see a solid fence, one that didn't lie there before. Again, one immediately sees a 6-4-3 double play, Hope players hitting walk off homeruns, a new coaching staff with great enthusiasm. This was the first year in Wolters Stadium. Players were ecstatic to practice and play on the best softball field in daresay, Michigan! The softball team went 25-14, qualifying for the MIAA tournament, and taking third overall in conference. This was the largest team they have had in four years, carrying 24 girls. By doing so, they were able to have a JV team within the varsity team. Many team, individual season, and career records were broken this season, and only time will tell when they will be broken again. As the team says good-bye to their eight seniors, they are already looking forward to setting foot on their beautiful field as they get ready for next season. •article by kylee brouwer •

Climbing two league spots from sixth place in 2006 to fourth place in 2007, the Hope women's golf team achieved individual and team success during their 2007-08 season. Coach Eva Dean Folkert guided the Flying Dutch to one third-place and two fourth-place finishes in MIAA Jamborees. The team finished fourth at the MIAA Championships as well as fourth in the spring-season national tournament qualifier. Senior Julie Hoogerhyde finished one stroke away from league medalist honors with a stroke average of 81.8 but was named All-MIAA First Team. Her 74 at Bucks Run (Alma) tied an MIAA record for the best all-time tournament round. She achieved medalist honors at three tournaments in 2007. Sophomore Cassie Sneller was also a tournament medalist three times in 2007. She finished the league season with an 88.8 stroke average. Hoogerhyde and Sneller played at Hope's number one and two positions, respectively. Other returning letterwinners in 2007-08 were: Cassie Hildebrandt, Brittany Posma, and Sarah Lokers. Freshmen team members were: Katie Blodgett, Jori Niemann, and Clare Hubbard. Hope captured first place at the Siena Heights Invitational as well as their own invitational in 2007. They also defeated Kalamazoo College and Albion College in separate dual matches by 30 and 39 strokes, respectively. Off the course and in the classroom, the team earned the All-MIAA Team Academic Award for the seventh year in a row with a 3.39 gpa average. Sarah Lokers and Hoogerhyde were named to the All-MIAA Honor Roll. The 2007 Hope Men's Golf Team persevered a testing season to claim their 5th consecutive MIAA title. The Dutchmen found themselves in an early deficit and had to stage a comeback to win the conference crown this year. Trailing the conference leader Olivet with two tournaments remaining, Hope took advantage of tough conditions to gain a slight edge heading into the season's final tournament. At the season finale, the Dutchmen, led by their core of four seniors, proved themselves worthy of another MIAA title by posting their lowest total of the season and claiming a 16 stroke victory over rival Olivet. In their final season together, seniors Matt Lapham, Steve Martindale, Ryan Sheets, and Tommy Yamaoka led the team to victory. The group collectively garnered their fourth straight MIAA title to perfectly end their careers in the MIAA. Lapham and Yamaoka earned 1st Team All-MIAA honors for a fourth consecutive year while Sheets earned 2nd Team honors. Yamaoka was named MIAA Medalist for the second time in his career. Winning the MIAA title earned the team an automatic berth in the 2008 NCAA National Championship to be held in Atlanta, GA in May. • article by tommy yamaoka •

The orientation journey began with the two Directors working on the program from the middle of spring semester right up until the students actually arrived on campus. The Assistant Directors chose the 225 Orientation Assistants who worked with the students in small groups during the weekend. Those Orientation Assistants - better known around campus as OA Leaders - came a week before the new students arrived and started a training program of their own. Each AD got a group of OAs to work with and train. All information covered before it reached the ears of the freshmen. It wasn't all work during these weeks. Not only did all the participants get to move in early, but they also got to participate in fun events where they could win prizes and have a good time! The OAs helped the freshmen move into their residence halls and learn about Hope College. The biggest pay off was seeing the smiling faces of the students and families that came to campus. article by abigail de vuyst

Relay for Life

Rain and cold temperatures forced event planners to move the 12-hour, overnight event on Oct. 19-20 from its traditional location in the Pine Grove into the Dow Center. The students camped in tents on the gym floor to recreate the nighttime atmosphere. Hope's Relay For Life raised a record total of more than $57,000 to benefit the American Cancer Society. At least one member of each team was walking on the Dow's track at all times throughout the night, to signify that cancer never sleeps. The participants joined in activities such as a lip sync competition, buck-buck tournament, or hula hoop contest. The most solemn moment of the evening came during the Luminary service. Members of each team read the names of cancer survivors and loved ones lost to the disease. Each name was represented on one of hundreds of glowing luminary bags serving as a reminder for walkers of the people for whom they fought. The successful evening proved that Hope students are willing to do what it takes to fight cancer until a cure is found. article by evelyn daniels

Residential Life at Hope seeks to enrich the student experience through campus engagement, ensure student safety and well-being, and create interpersonal relationships with peer-leaders on campus. This year,

Residential life was truly a benefit to all who were touched by the program. It provided an opportunity for students to engage with other students in the residential halls, cottages and apartments. Residential Life gave students an opportunity to develop leadership, organizational, and interpersonal skills while enriching their responsibility and involvement in Hope College. Resident assistants returned to campus a week before the rest of the student body in August to prepare for the new students' arrival. Most of the training took place during this week, but it was continued throughout the year through monthly in-services that were planned and presented by the Student Leadership Team. The Student Leadership Team consisted of 16 students who had experience in Residential Life and wanted to take on the positions of leadership as Neighborhood Coordinators of cottages and apartments, Student Assistant Resident Directors in some residential halls and Campus Educators for Programming/Campus Involvement, Diversity and Health. • article by rona warner •

Student Congress is a collection of representatives from the student body. This year, every part of the Hope College campus was represented in Congress, including the cottages, dorms, and off-campus housing. Members of Student Congress were a part of task forces that worked long hours to give the student body what it wants. Examples of these task forces could be seen in the Meijer Runs every Thursday night and the Speaker Series that Hope College delivered this year. Another task force, newly comprised this year, was the Spring Stop-Light Dance. Numerous other task forces worked hard to keep things running smoothly and even change existing ways at Hope College! Representatives were also liaisons to the Campus Life Board, Athletic Committee, Religious Life Committee, Board of Trustees, and Resident Life Committee; to name a few. Student Congress also helped raise money for Dance Marathon and Relay for Life: two of the biggest fundraisers at Hope. Every member of Student Congress contributed priceless input and enthusiasm towards the enrichment of Hope College. • article by sarah mejia & photos by emily mills •

Last Autumn 40 individuals from the even year class of 2010 came together as the 2010 pull family. Even Year Pull family is founded on heart, tradition, and dedication. The 2010 pull team prepared for one of the most physically and mentally demanding challenges any of them had ever faced, as they carried on the tradition of Even Year Pull. All of the chanting and yelling could not suffice for the red passion that flowed through the veins of each puller and moraler. The 2010 pull team put their entire heart into hours of vigorous practice and preparation, which cumulated into a three-hour event in which character was put to the test. The 2010 pull team was deeper than simply rope and chants. The pullers and moralers gained the respect of one another in a unique way that has brought Even Year Pull teams together for 110 years. Tradition is the most valuable asset a team can have. The 2010 Pull team underwent arduous training regimens that has been passed down for generations. Friendships that were created because of the passionate red tradition that the 2010 Even Year Pull team experienced last September, will last a lifetime.

It had been twenty-two years since an Odd Year freshman pull team reeled in the rope to victory. Odds were against the class of 2011, but that didn't stop them or their coaches from putting in everything they had. Through hard work and selflessness, the 11 pull team discovered what it truly meant to become united as one team. Determination was what led to the Odd Year victory, as they never quit and never settled for something less. But, the Pull was so much more than a competition. Odd Year truly knew what it meant to be a family, a community that supported one another. Pull is something that unites each of its members their four years on campus and beyond. It isn't just about that one team; it's about all Odd Year Pull teams, past, present, as well as future teams to come. Every year, alumni return to support the next team, and this year, Odd Year made its alumni proud.

With a year's worth of experience under their belts, the senior coaches brought even more creativity to their programs than last year. There were more than 100 participants in play, song and oration, along with almost 20 morale boys. Play coaches Calista Peterson and Erika Oglesby wrote a play based on the fairy-tale, Cinderella. The Hope College Pom Pon Team is a student-run dance group that performs pom style routines during the half-times of the men's football and basketball games. The team practices three times a week, and each practice is run by the student captains. The style of dance the Pom Pon Team performs varies between the two seasons. During football season, the team sticks to very Traditional Pom techniques. During basketball season, the team adds in some jazz and hip-hop, performing routines that are closely aligned to the Universal Dance Association style of dance. This year, the Pom Team had a lot of fun participating in Dance Marathon by fundraising to donate to the event as well as spending time with their Miracle Child, Tatianna. This year, they had a fun movie night with Tatianna, involved her in several practices, and incorporated her into the routine they performed at Dance Marathon. "The Pom Team has been great for me," said junior Danielle Johnson. "I've been able to continue dancing, which I love, even though it's not what I want to pursue as a career. The team is a great group of girls and we always have fun." • article by danielle johnson •

just swingin'

Swing Club is a student run organization that seeks to promote ballroom dance on Hope College's campus. Every month Swing Club offered an open dance that began with a free beginning lesson usually swing dance but we also covered Latino based dances. Many students fill Wickers Auditorium to participate on Friday nights. Many come with friends as partners and others just come to have fun with another single dancer. Several times throughout the year we had themed dances and special events including a costume contest, Sadie Hawkins dance, and salsa night. The costume contest was very fun, each couple dressed up and we voted on who had the best costume. It was a very fun way to bring together the club as well as new comers to Swing Club. The club had a great turn out on the free dance nights. Many students on campus were eager to get involved with this free and safe activity each month. • article by megan pitzer & photos courtesy of the swing club. •

The Hope Hockey team enjoyed another win- back to back ning and record setting season. This season the Hockey team became the first in the league's history (MCHC) to win back to back play off championships. The Hope College Hockey team also made its 7th consecutive trip to the national tournament, placing 5th or better. This season we did not finish as well as we planned in the national tournament but 5th place in the nation still shows the kind of success we had during the season. The team lost many key seniors this year such as Jon Shaver, Gunnar Martin, Steve Pels, and Kevin Nelson, but with a majority of the team returning next season, we expect to put another winning record under our belts. And also expect to make another run for the national title. Overall it was a successful season, and the team never lost site of their main goals. They achieved the goals that they had set early on in the season and experienced one of the best seasons the Hope College Hockey team has had in a long time. • article by matt schrader • changing lives

Alpha Phi Omega is a National Service Fraternity proudly based on the principles of Leadership, Friendship, and Service. As the Nu Beta chapter of APO, we have a membership on campus of about 25 men and women actively serving not only our Hope and Holland communities, but the national community as well. This year as a Fraternity, members of APO participated in activities such as the many blood drives we operate each year, Relay For Life, and Dance Marathon. Many of the actives walked and danced all through the night. The Fraternity has also spent time this year at the Warm Friend downtown painting and sharing smiles and time with the elderly in the community; and our trips to the Ronald McDonald House in GR are always great. Alpha Phi Omega is a group that enables the young men and women of Hope's campus to share, grow, improve, and invest. Members of this group are great friends and have many opportunities to practice leadership skills that will benefit them as they leave Hope's campus. The kind of person that APO helps create is a caring, and service-minded. • article by jaime van heest •

The Hope College chapel band continued to grow and change during the 2007-2008 school year. Their time together began before classes started, as they went on a weeklong retreat near Lake Michigan that allowed them to grow closer to one another and to God. Their first official time playing together was at "Groovin' in the Grove", an Orientation favorite. "The greatest joy about leading worship at Hope College is definitely the students. Where else can you find 1000+ hungry and willing college students who meet together four times a week to worship?" The Campus Ministries program also received a gift that allowed them to invest in new technology for the chapel. "It's awesome that people care enough to invest back in Hope and the chapel program," said Andrew Hickok '08. • article by matt wixson •

growing force

The highlight of the year for the Hope Democrats was a visit from Governor Howard Dean, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Governor Dean spoke to the Hope community about finding common ground and the role that faith plays in politics, a theme that the Democrats on campus have worked hard to emphasize. The Hope Democrats were also visited by Mark Brewer, chairman of the Michigan Democratic Party, who shared ways they as college students can get involved in politics. In November, when Professor Fred Johnson of the history department declared his candidacy for United States Congress, the Democrats held a reception on campus for Professor Johnson in celebration of his campaign kickoff. At Relay for Life, the Democrats joined forces with the Hope Republicans to help collect petition entries on behalf of American Cancer Society, in an effort to get more federal funding for cancer research. The club also held their annual Daily Show and Colbert Report viewing at the beginning of the year. President Brian Straw ('08) and Vice-President Shannon Craig ('09) also represented the club at both the first annual Michigan Policy Summit and the Michigan ACLU dinner, where they met actor Martin Sheen.

The Hope Woman's Lacrosse Team had a great 2007-2008 season. The season began with an exciting fallball turn-out lead by captains Tracy Benjamin, Ashley Timpner, and Courtney Miller. Not only did half the team re-turn for another season, but they were met by an equal amount of new players; the team sported about 25 players this season. Although some players prefer to have previous experience with the sport, it was not required, thus exposing many new individuals to the game. Unfortunately, as the team moved into the regular spring season, over half of the games were cancelled due to snow! Although this put a minor damper on game advancement, the team kept morale high by having pasta parties and other bonding activities. The highlight of the season was the end of the year tournament at Wheaton College, where ten teams competed over the course of two days in a round robin match! While few games were won this season, the team looks forward to improving over the course of the year to come back for a stronger 2008-2009 season! • article sarah havlak •

The Fraternal Society has been around for over 174 years; a legacy dating past the civil war. The '07/'08 year held great things for the Fraternal Society at Hope College. First semester the organization ran the annual Stu Post raffle to benefit the West Michigan Parkinson's Association. They had another great year and managed to raise $3,200 for this worthy cause. The Fraternal Society ran its Thanksgiving day CASA party, for at risk children, as it does each year in the Maas Center on Hope's campus. This was an opportunity for fraternal actives to make an impact on children who have not been given many of the things that are often taken for granted. Dance Marathon gave students the opportunity to commit themselves to a cause, giving inspiration and hope to West Michigan families and children in need. The Fraternal Society grasped this opportunity and committed itself to Dance Marathon with each active member participating in the fundraising event in March '08. "The love of Fraternal is undying...the friendship of Fraternal is enduring...the strength of Fraternal is unchallengeable." • article by ben rinker •

With the recent development of the Sisterhood Enrichment position, the Sigmas hosted an informational meeting about the Rafiki Foundation to inform Hope's student body and answer questions regarding this African orphan sponsorship program. With women involved in every aspect of Hope's campus life, including Nykerk, The Pull, SAC, CASA, Dance Marathon, and Women's Issues Organization, the women took a few weekends off to enjoy their annual events; Canoe, Formal, Informal, and Swan Song. Cosmopolitan

Cosmopolitan has spent this past school year challenging each other to progress towards the truth we are all searching for. Brotherhood flourished in both the simplistic (family dinners at our favorite Phelps table) and the dramatic (canoeing down the Pine River). We bettered the West Michigan community by participating in activities such as Beach Clean-Up, Bridge Youth Ministry Center, Relay for Life, and Dance Marathon, as well as capturing the attention of the school with an outlandish Hot Dog Eating Contest that raised money for Acting on AIDS. Our literary meetings every Monday night have given us the time and opportunity to progress our minds intellectually and spiritually through poetry, literature, funny anecdotes, and thoughtful comments. Our motto is Friendship, Progress, and Truth, and once again this school year has shown the community the importance of these vital qualities. Brotherhood lives in the uniqueness of each individual and thrives on our Unity because of our Diversity. • article by joel evenhouse •

Favorite Aspect of your Fraternity: The traditions and loyalty that we have. Being the oldest fraternity on campus means a lot to me and to know that my brothers will always be there for me is great.

How does your Fraternity benefit others: We participated in Dance Marathon, Relay for Life and Habitat for Humanity. Also, we did a PEB classic frisbee golf tournament to benefit Young Life and we had a hot dog eating contest to support AIDS relief in Africa.

What is your favorite service project: Beach clean up is my favorite. Cosmos love the outdoors and nature so it was fun to get out there and keep our beautiful beaches clean.

What is your favorite memory: So far, my favorite memories have been on the canoe trips we go on every fall and spring. It is a great time for all of us to hang out away from Hope College and get into the outdoors.

Favorite aspect of your sorority: We all have each other's backs. Even though some may be closer than others, we still always look out for each other.

How does your sorority benefit others: We get involved with what's going on around campus, as well as get involved in our own fundraisers.

What is your favorite service project: Pink Day. It educates the campus on the severity of breast cancer and is something that a lot of the girls in our organization have had personal experience with. It's a great way to help others by raising money, but also educating the ladies at Hope College about what to look out for!

What will you miss the most: I think our senior class is going to miss the BMs, formals and canoe trips the most.

What is your favorite memory: Just any activity that we do with just us lovely Delphi ladies, like hanging out at the cottage and ordering pizza.

Whether it was longboarding around Holland, tearing it up on the athletic fields, or leading by example in the classroom, shades of maroon and white were nearly impossible to miss this year. Our philanthropic endeavors were heralded as well, highlighted by fall's rake-and-run adventures. The second semester held many service opportunities for the Emersonian fraternity as we became the Greek organization that raised the most money for a record setting Dance Marathon. We have remained the most intimate of groups even after increasing our membership and accepting ten new gentlemen of the highest quality. With an equal number sadly departing the ranks of active status, we offer immense gratitude towards them. The seniors have truly run the gauntlet and turned this fraternity around, garnering respect from our peers, administration, and the surrounding community. Favorite Aspect of your Fraternity: My favorite times are those when everybody is in the pinegrove or behind the cottage. I don't remember specifics, but I felt so comfortable and relaxed. I was with my best friends and those are all the memories I need.

How does your Fraternity benefit others: I think that our organization brought energy to the campus at events. If a group of people can bring energy onto a campus, it makes every activity more successful. We helped keep the college fervor alive.

What will you miss the most: I'll miss the constant energy and the locomotion of the fraternity. I love the social opportunities to meet other people across campus and learn from as many people as possible. I'll miss everything. Except the stereotypes, everything.

The Sibylline sorority was overjoyed to welcome 28 wonderful new girls into their organization this spring. They were so excited to share the friendship, love, and loyalty that they found in each other. This year marked another successful and fun year for everyone. The annual service projects of Dance Marathon and Relay for Life were great successes, but they also can look back with pride in their participation with smaller philanthropy projects such as Breakfast with Baby, Community Kitchen, and volunteering at a West Michigan hematology center. Sibylline friendships grew even stronger this year as they attended both fall and spring sorority retreats, traveled to other areas of the world on missions trips, road-tripped south for spring break, and spent their day-to-day lives together. There was a high Sib attendance at Greek Retreat, where they got serious about important issues that needed to be addressed and improved on. What will you miss the most: I will miss seeing my brothers everyday and the positive energy they always gave me when I needed it most.

What is your favorite service project: My favorite service project was dancing at the retirement center this semester because it meant a lot to the people who were there.

Favorite Aspect of your Sorority: I think that my favorite aspect of our organization is our spirituality. Although we may all come from different backgrounds, we bond together to create a group.

How does your Sorority benefit others: Being that we are so unique, we have been able to bring our non-stereotypical organization to campus. We have shown others that we do more than what is stereotyped with this type of organization.

What is your favorite service project: We did a service project for the Rescue Mission where we created 250 valentines to deliver on Valentine's Day. It was a good feeling knowing that even though we might have only made valentines, these were going to brighten the lives of those who are less fortunate than ourselves.

What is your favorite memory: The day that I was activated. Putting on the letters was a good feeling.

Kappa Delta Chi

Kappa Delta Chi had a busy school year. During the Fall we participated in the Stuff the Bus campaign, donating school supplies to low income children. As part of our spring Rush program we made over a hundred Valentines for the Holland Rescue Mission. We were also active in Relay for Life and Dance Marathon. Homecoming gave us a chance to connect with alumni and we were excited to receive an award for our travel themed float. We had a number of date nights including a Halloween Date Night complete with carving pumpkins and a costume contest, as well one themed around James Bond with a scavenger hunt and Bond movie. We also enjoyed two formals, getting dressed up and going out with our dates. We spent most of the Spring Semester focused on Rush, where we got to know a lot of girls through a number of New York themed events. We are excited to welcome our 5 new members and are eager to see them grow as sisters and friends. • article by julia defoe •

Founded in 1966, this year marked the forty-second in the history of the Centurian Fraternity. To this diverse group of men twelve new members were added in the spring putting total membership up to twenty-eight. The year was spent upholding the meaning of Alpha Theta Chi, which is Brotherhood, Service, and Character. On the brotherhood front several literary meetings, Intramural sporting events, and the annual tradition of "Centgiving" helped to strengthen the bonds of brotherhood. The Centurians excelled at service projects this year by participating in many new events that benefit the community. Some of these included volunteer work done at Resthaven nursing home, as well as organizing the "Get Buzzed for Dance Marathon" event which was responsible for 1% of the total earnings of Dance Marathon. Alpha Theta Chi also had a strong hand in building the foundation of the new partnership between Greek Life and Campus Ministries, resulting in the first annual Greek Retreat as well as a forum on marriage, dating, and relationships. The fraternity had an eventful year and looks forward to continuing the tradition of Brotherhood, Service, and Character for years to come. | article by mike vanderweele and kyle terpstra |

Favorite Aspect of your Fraternity: There is a strong level of support for our guys, and I know that this support has helped a lot of guys through rough times.

How does your Fraternity benefit others:

Johnny Ganta, along with Paul Boersma of Campus Ministries, played a huge part in getting the Greek Chaplains to start meeting together, which has helped Greek Life, and hopefully will expand to the campus in the future.

What will you miss the most: The obvious answer is that I will miss the people the most.

What is your favorite service project: A fundraiser that we did for Dance Marathon called Get Buzzed for DM, in which a lot of our guys raised money and then shaved their heads at the event.

What is your favorite memory: Centgiving, our annual Thanksgiving dinner as a fraternity.

Volunteering is a strong point of the Centurian fraternity as Ken Underwood, Johnny Ganta, and Justin Sobania rake leaves together on a beautiful fall day. • Hospitality is not something that the Cents lack as Justin Sobania grills out for his brothers and friends. • Gathering together for the annual Centgiving dinner, brothers eat freshly carved turkey as they talk about how thankful they are for each other. • Spending some quality time with their sister sorority, the Cents eat with the Dorians. • Informal Composite First row: Justin Sobania, Ty Robbins, Paul Boillot, and Nick Vanderhovel. • Second row: Brad Lockwood, Sander Dettaan, Fritz Gunther, Alex Martin, Nate Sayer, Johnny Ganta, Joel Birdsall, Brandon King, Keith Fraas, Kyle Terpstra, Mike VanderWeele, Andrew Liang, Robert Schellenberg, and Ken Underwood. • photos by steven dejong, courtesy of nick vanderhovel and michael vanderweele •

Favorite Aspect of your Sorority: I treasure each unique Dorian, and that we encourage each woman to maintain her individuality, so that we might be a well-rounded group filled with diversity.

What will you miss the most: I will miss the random, unplanned times spent with sisters.

What is your favorite service project: I loved our philanthropy project this year, which was devoted to making a difference in global hunger problem. We raised money for the Heifer Project, volunteered time at the local Rescue Missions and hosted a 12-hour fast to raise awareness.

Favorite Memory of your Sorority: My favorite memory is the one that has yet to be made. I know that I will not be allowed to get away without keeping in touch, and I cherish them for that.

Kappa Beta Phi

Founded: 1921
Colors: Lavender and Gold
Motto: Simplicity of Manner, Strength of Purpose,
Beauty of Character
Flower: Yellow Rose
Number of Actives: 55
Brother Fraternity: Centurian

Established in 1921, the Dorians have a significant and deep history at Hope College. They were the first sorority to request a sorority house on campus, and were granted it in the fall of 1970. Their brother fraternity was originally the Emersonians. They were the first sorority to break away from the classic sorority uniform style, and they encountered tension during their history that caused a breaking apart and later reinstating of their organization. No matter the change, the Dorians always stuck to their motto: Simplicity of manner, strength of purpose, and beauty of character. With the Centurians as their new brother fraternity and their president, Meghan Estochen, as the winner of the 2008 Dean of Students Greek Leadership Award, the Kappa Beta Phis have a lot to be proud of. They raised money for the Heifer Project, an organization that donates animals and plants that can provide sustenance for needy areas of the world. A 12-hour fast to raise awareness was hosted by the Dorians as well, as a spring philanthropy project. This year Kappa Beta Phi represented what Greek Life at Hope College is about. • article by ali roth •

Knickerbocker

The Knickerbocker Fraternity stuck to its newly established traditions and moved forward in a positive direction this year. It embraced the Knickerbocker motto of accomplishing the moral, social, and intellectual sides of men and was committed to keeping these strengths present within its organization up until now and for the years to come. In order to give back to the community, the Knickerbocker fraternity volunteered at the Holland Rescue Mission, and held a can drive to donate to the cause of fighting Cerebral Palsy. In addition, the fraternity had the highest GPA out of all the Greek organizations on campus and was heavily involved in programs that display excellent risk management. For these reasons, the men of Knickerbocker expect to grow in numbers and maintain a strong foot hold in Hope campus life for many years to come. • article by chris erickson •

Favorite aspect of your Fraternity: I like the fact that we have so much potential. I feel that we have a good future ahead of us and some bright people to make it happen.

How does your Fraternity benefit others: We have done some great work in the community by volunteering at the Holland Rescue Mission and fundraising for muscle dystrophy.

What will you miss the most: I will miss our meetings and being able to share our different life experiences that form us into a bond of brotherhood.

What is your favorite service project: Working at the Holland Rescue Mission was probably my favorite because it was real hands-on work.

What is your favorite memory: My favorite memory is going on a canoe trip with the actives and the alumni.

Favorite aspect of your sorority: The best aspect of our sorority is that our women aren't afraid to be who they are and don't hesitate to accept others for who they are either.

How does your sorority benefit others: We're a group of strong, fierce, and beautiful women who benefit Hope by bringing their talents and concerns to the table.

What will you miss the most: The sheer ridiculousness that occurs when we are all together. Especially our Sunday dinners as family.

What is your favorite service project: I think the AIDS walk in Detroit and the playhouse raffle were my two favorites; they both involved getting out in the community and sharing our vision of service with others.

What is your favorite memory: I have a million memories with the sorority that I wouldn't trade for the world, and I definitely can't pick a favorite one.

Alpha Gamma Phi

Alpha Gamma Phi celebrated it's 50th Homecoming this year! Since we were founded in 1957, many things have changed, though we have still maintained our sense of sisterhood and family. This year we took on a large service project with Court Appointed Special Advocates of Ottawa County, raising about $2,700 to help children in foster care find safe, permanent homes. In addition to this project, some of our members were involved in the new initiative in Sorority Life, Greek Women: Making the Ideal Real. We also celebrated the return of the Knickerbocker Fraternity by once again making our brother/sister relationship official. In the spring we welcomed a class of three wonderful women into our family. During Greek Week Alpha Phi teamed up with the Emersonian Fraternity and won the whiffle ball tournament! We also took home the Greek Spirit award for the third year in a row. The ending of the Spring 2008 semester meant saying goodbye to three members. They will be missed, but we wish them all the best! In the meantime, Alpha Gamma Phi plans on keeping the good vibes going and rocking on for at least 50 more years! • article by anna pillot •

This was a special year for the Phi Sigs at Hope in many ways. The year began with their chapter receiving the President's Outstanding Achievement Award for Philanthropy at the Phi Sigma Kappa National Convention in Nashville, TN. Over the course of the scholastic year, the Phi Sigs participated in Relay for Life and Dance Marathon, put on Christmas and Valentine's Day Parties at Resthaven Retirement Home (with the help of the Dorians and Sigmas, respectively) and held a charity basketball game vs. the Holland Police Department to raise money for the DeKleine Children's Trust Fund, amongst numerous other philanthropy and community service efforts. In October, the fraternity hosted the 5th annual Fall Bash and in April, organized the 5th annual Sorority Powder Puff Tournament. As proud as the Phi Sigs are of all the events they participated in and organized this year, the initiation of 22 new brothers in March will go down as the landmark event of '07-'08. • article by thaddeus goodchild •

Favorite aspect of your Fraternity: The loyalty of our brothers. It's a great feeling to know that at any hour of the night, you have 40 other guys who would drop what they're doing if you needed a favor.

What will you miss the most: As I become an alum of our chapter, I think I'll miss the day-to-day things of fraternity life the most. Though I'll be friends with my brothers for life, it will be sad not to be able to head over to the cottage to watch a movie or decide to organize a softball game at the drop of a hat next year.

What is your favorite service project: We have done a lot of great service projects, so it's hard to pick. The relationship I was able to develop with our miracle family for Dance Marathon over the past few years was one of the neatest experiences of my college career. Also, the way the charity basketball game with the HPD came together was really amazing to see. The outpouring of support from the community was unbelievable.

How does your Sorority benefit others:

We were involved with Black Student Union and LARU. We had an AIDS Awareness Day and held grad schools panels. We had a budget meeting, where we had local banks come in and take to students about money. Also, we attended the National Black Student Conference and the Diversity Symposium this year. We do things to increase awareness about issues around campus.

What will you miss the most: We will all miss senior Erin Taylor who graduated this year. She brought a lot of energy to our sorority.

What is your favorite memory: Our party at Grand Valley and Delta Days at the State Capitol. The party was a fall welcome back party for Tau Psi and other sororities. Delta Days was a day where the Midwest chapters of Delta Sigma Theta discussed issues of social activism. My favorite issue was how to deal with domestic violence.

Delta Sigma Theta actives, Leticia Parker, Tonisha Gordon, and Lyndsey Brewster discuss their organization's sorority affairs in the Martha Miller Center. • On their way to a meeting, Tonisha Gordon, Lyndsey Brewster, and Leticia Parker make their sorority's signature sign for Delta, showing that everything is better when they're together. • After arriving in Lansing for "Delta Days", Leticia Parker spends some time with Delta alumnae as they discuss their concerns about social activism. • Before beloved senior, Erin Taylor, graduates from Hope College, she and Lyndsey Brewster work on some of the philanthropy projects that Delta Sigma Theta is involved with every year. • Informal Composite First row: Erin Taylor, Leticia Parker, Lyndsey Brewster, and Tonisha Gordon. • photos by leticia parker and tonisha gordon •

The Tau Psi Chapter at Hope College was initiated as the 975th chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Incorporated on April 24, 2005. The major programs of the sorority are based upon the organization's Five Point Thrust: economic development, educational development, international awareness and involvement, physical and mental health, and political awareness and involvement. In 2006, the Hope College Deltas initiated three new members: Tonisha Gordon, Lyndsey Brewster, and Leticia Parker. This year, Delta Sigma Theta hosted an AIDS Awareness Day where they put up posters with facts on them and handed out condoms. They also participated in the Black Student Union, LARU, the National Black Conference, and the Diversity Symposium.
